

Innovation Award 2020

Conditions of entry...

Theses that are related to bearing technology can be submitted. We refer to the definition of bearings technology.

Broad subject areas:

- Rolling, plain and magnetic bearings for mechanical engineering, automotive and aerospace industry
- Rotative as well as linear movement
- Mechanical and mechatronical solutions
- Theses with relation to Industry 4.0
- Consideration of the complete life cycle

The thesis may have been drawn up by individual natural persons or by teams. In the case of teams consisting of natural persons, the team has to nominate an authorized person to represent the team against Schaeffler FAG Foundation in all actions. If the thesis has been drawn up in the context to a scientific institute, a company or a similar institution, the corresponding consent with the participation in this competition is required.

The thesis may be submitted in German or English. Applications are to be directed to the Schaeffler FAG Foundation by the announced application deadline.
